

Name: _____

Commonly Confused Words: Accept vs. Except

Accept and except sound nearly alike, but their meanings are different.

Accept is a verb meaning to agree to, believe or receive something.

Example 1: Will you accept my apology?

Example 2: I will accept your version of the story.

Example 3: He accepted a cup from the waitress.

Accept

Except

Except is used as a preposition, a conjunction or a noun, but all of the meanings are similar: to leave out.

Example 1: She loved all colors except brown.

Choose accept or except to complete each sentence.

1. _____ for Rose, no one liked the movie.
2. Steve wanted to go, _____ his mother said he couldn't leave.
3. Please _____ our invitation for dinner.
4. All the players _____ the goalie wore white shoes.
5. The tired man had to _____ the fact that he must stop and rest.
6. Grace liked the big television, _____ it cost too much.
7. Never _____ gifts from strangers.
8. The class all voted for the new rules _____ Rafael.
9. Ruth will _____ the award for the best story.
10. Will they _____ the new student in class?

Name: _____ Key

Commonly Confused Words: Accept vs. Except

Accept and except sound nearly alike, but their meanings are different.

Accept is a verb meaning to agree to, believe or receive something.

Example 1: Will you accept my apology?

Example 2: I will accept your version of the story.

Example 3: He accepted a cup from the waitress.

Accept

Except

Except is used as a preposition, a conjunction or a noun, but all of the meanings are similar: to leave out.

Example 1: She loved all colors except brown.

Choose accept or except to complete each sentence.

1. _____ Except _____ for Rose, no one liked the movie.
2. Steve wanted to go, _____ except _____ his mother said he couldn't leave.
3. Please _____ accept _____ our invitation for dinner.
4. All the players _____ except _____ the goalie wore white shoes.
5. The tired man had to _____ accept _____ the fact that he must stop and rest.
6. Grace liked the big television, _____ except _____ it cost too much.
7. Never _____ accept _____ gifts from strangers.
8. The class all voted for the new rules _____ except _____ Rafael.
9. Ruth will _____ accept _____ the award for the best story.
10. Will they _____ accept _____ the new student in class?