

Name: _____

Commonly Confused Words: Affect vs. Effect

Affect and effect sound a little alike, but their meanings are different.

Affect is usually used as a verb meaning to change or influence. It may be used different pronunciation meaning emotion behavior.

Example 1: Your test grade will affect your final grade.

Example 2: He assumed a serious affect as he began the lecture.

Affect
Effect

Effect is usually a noun meaning a result, an impression, or something that comes into being. It sometimes may be used as a verb meaning to cause something to change.

Example 1: The baby's crying had a terrible effect on the passengers.

Example 2: The new roof gave the effect of a whole new house.

Example 3: The new rules go into effect on the first of the month.

Example 4: We can effect change if we work together.

Choose affect or effect to complete each sentence.

1. Another drought will _____ the wheat crop.
2. The bad behavior of some students may _____ the reputation of the whole school.
3. The movie had a big _____ on her.
4. He did not want the scandal to _____ the outcome of the election.
5. The silence was not the _____ Barry wanted.
6. To understand history we must often look at an event's cause and _____.
7. Her calm _____ helped everyone relax.
8. He will _____ his departure tonight.
9. The _____ of the hurricane is being felt throughout the state.
10. The disease would _____ her ability to walk.

Name: _____ Key

Commonly Confused Words: Affect vs. Effect

Affect and effect sound a little alike, but their meanings are different.

Affect is usually used as a verb meaning to change or influence. It may be used different pronunciation meaning emotion behavior.

Example 1: Your test grade will affect your final grade.

Example 2: He assumed a serious affect as he began the lecture.

Affect
Effect

Effect is usually a noun meaning a result, an impression, or something that comes into being. It sometimes may be used as a verb meaning to cause something to change.

Example 1: The baby's crying had a terrible effect on the passengers.

Example 2: The new roof gave the effect of a whole new house.

Example 3: The new rules go into effect on the first of the month.

Example 4: We can effect change if we work together.

Choose affect or effect to complete each sentence.

1. Another drought will _____ affect _____ the wheat crop.
2. The bad behavior of some students may _____ affect _____ the reputation of the whole school.
3. The movie had a big _____ effect _____ on her.
4. He did not want the scandal to _____ affect _____ the outcome of the election.
5. The silence was not the _____ effect _____ Barry wanted.
6. To understand history we must often look at an event's cause and _____ effect _____.
7. Her calm _____ affect _____ helped everyone relax.
8. He will _____ effect _____ his departure tonight.
9. The _____ effect _____ of the hurricane is being felt throughout the state.
10. The disease would _____ affect _____ her ability to walk.