

Fact or Opinion: The Battle of the Cards

Instructions for the teacher: Cut out each of the game cards. Students play in pairs. Shuffle the cards and deal five cards face down to each student. The remaining cards go in a stack face down. Turn over the top card of the stack. The first student must either play a card that matches the topic from the red bar (e.g. dogs) or a card that matches the type (fact or opinion). If the student plays a card incorrectly or he is unable to play a card, he must draw a card from the stack and return the incorrectly played card to his hand. First student to get rid of all his cards wins!
