Circle the Simile

Figurative language includes special forms that writers use to help readers make a strong connection to their words. A simile is one kind of figurative language. It makes a comparison of two unlike things using the words “like” or “as”.

Circle the simile in each sentence. On the line, explain what is being compared to what.

1. Andrew is as sly as a fox.
   __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.

2. He was as nervous as a cat around a room full of rocking chairs.
   __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.

3. Annastasia had a smile as sweet as sugar.
   __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.

4. After he finished playing the basketball game, his hair was oily like fried chicken.
   __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.

5. Sylvia’s new lotion made her face as smooth as a baby’s skin.
   __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.

6. My two-year-old cousin was as bouncy as a bunny when she got outside.
   __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.

7. The new science book is as heavy as an elephant!
   __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.

8. The extra glue was as sticky as syrup on their fingers.
   __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.

9. Mr. Hanson, the P.E. teacher, is as strong as an Olympic athlete.
   __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.

10. My mom’s tea is as hot as the sun!
    __________________________ is being compared to ________________________.
Figurative language includes special forms that writers use to help readers make a strong connection to their words. A simile is one kind of figurative language. It makes a comparison of two unlike things using the words “like” or “as”.

Circle the simile in each sentence. On the line, explain what is being compared to what.

12. Andrew is as sly as a fox.

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.

13. He was as nervous as a cat around a room full of rocking chairs.

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.

14. Annastasia had a smile as sweet as sugar.

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.

15. After he finished playing the basketball game, his hair was oily like fried chicken.

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.

16. Sylvia’s new lotion made her face as smooth as a baby’s skin.

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.

17. My two-year-old cousin was as bouncy as a bunny when she got outside.

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.

18. The new science book is as heavy as an elephant!

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.

19. The extra glue was as sticky as syrup on their fingers.

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.

20. Mr. Hanson, the P.E. teacher, is as strong as an Olympic athlete.

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.

21. My mom’s tea is as hot as the sun!

   __________________________ is being compared to ______________________.