

Add an Interjection

An interjection is a word or phrase that expresses emotion or feeling, gives a command or fills a silence. It usually begins a sentence, but sometimes it may interrupt a sentence or be at the end of a sentence.

Example: Yahoo! I made an A on the test!

In the example, yahoo is an interjection.

Write an interjection from the word bank in the blanks below. Make sure the interjection makes sense with the sentence. Use each interjection only once.

Word Bank

yes	ugh	huh	gosh
gee	bye	oww	ah
hey	phew	hi	whoops

1. _____! You're in my chair!
2. _____, my name is Robert.
3. _____, this fish is smelly.
4. _____! I almost slipped.
5. That was a nice party, _____?
6. _____, I want to go with you.
7. _____! See you later.
8. Snakes are slithery, _____!

Add an Interjection

An interjection is a word or phrase that expresses emotion or feeling, gives a command or fills a silence. It usually begins a sentence, but sometimes it may interrupt a sentence or be at the end of a sentence.

Example: Yahoo! I made an A on the test!

In the example, yahoo is an interjection.

Write an interjection from the word bank in the blanks below. Make sure the interjection makes sense with the sentence. Use each interjection only once.

Word Bank

yes	ugh	huh	gosh
gee	bye	oww	ah
hey	phew	hi	whoops

Actual student's answers will vary. Examples of correct answers:

1. Hey _____! You're in my chair!
2. Hi _____, my name is Robert.
3. Phew _____, this fish is smelly.
4. Whoops! _____! I almost slipped.
5. That was a nice party, huh _____?
6. Yes _____, I want to go with you.
7. Bye _____! See you later.
8. Snakes are slithery, ugh _____!