

Ν	ar	n	e
	u		·

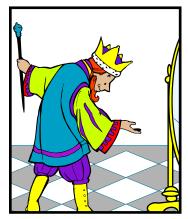

The Emperor's New Clothes

Hans Christen Andersen

Hans Christian Andersen was a famous Danish writer. He is known for writing fairy tales, such as "The Little Mermaid" and "The Snow Queen." His story "The Emperor's New Clothes" was first published in 1837. Below is the beginning of the story.

Many years ago, there was an Emperor, who was so excessively fond of new clothes, that he spent all his money in dress. He did not trouble himself in the least about his soldiers; nor did he care to go either to the theatre or the chase, except for the opportunities then afforded him for displaying his new clothes. He had a different suit for each hour of the day; and as of any other king or emperor, one is accustomed to say, "he is sitting in council," it was always said of him, "The Emperor is sitting in his wardrobe."

Time passed merrily in the large town which was his capital;

strangers arrived every day at the court. One day, two rogues, calling themselves weavers, made their appearance. They gave out that they knew how to weave stuffs of the most beautiful colors and elaborate patterns, the clothes manufactured from which should have the wonderful property of remaining invisible to everyone who was unfit for the office he held, or who was extraordinarily simple in character.

"These must, indeed, be splendid clothes!" thought the Emperor. "Had I such a suit, I might at once find out what men in my realms are unfit for their office, and also be able to distinguish the wise from the foolish! This stuff must be woven for me immediately." And he caused large sums of money to be given to both the weavers in order that they might begin their work directly.

So the two pretended weavers set up two looms, and affected to work very busily, though in reality they did nothing at all. They asked for the most delicate silk and the purest gold thread; put both into their own knapsacks; and then continued their pretended work at the empty looms until late at night.

200	1 les

The Emperor's New Clothes Do You Remember?

Name:
	lame:

Part I. Short Answer

Answer each question below.

- 1. What did the emperor spend all his money on? ______
- 2. Where did the emperor spend most of his time? _____
- 3. The dishonest weavers said their clothes were ______ to those who were unfit for their office.
- 4, How much cloth did the dishonest weavers make?
- 5. What did the dishonest weavers do with the silk and gold thread?

Part II. Multiple Choice

Circle the correct answer to each question.

- 1. How many suits did the emperor have?
- A. One for each day of the week
- B. Two for each day of the week
- C. One for each hour of the day
- D. One for every morning, afternoon and night.
- 2. Why did the emperor want to go to the theatre?
- A. It was his duty as emperor.
- B. He liked to watch the singers.
- C. There was nothing else to do.
- D. He could show off his clothes

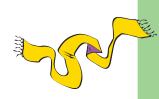

- A. The cloth didn't cost very much.
- B. He would be able to tell who was foolish and who was wise.
- C. The cloth matched the color of his eyes.
- D. The clothes were in the newest style.
- 4. Why did the dishonest weavers cheat the emperor?
- A. They thought it was funny.
- B. They wanted to be emperor.
- C. They wanted to start a war.
- D. They wanted money.

Column A

The Emperor's New Clothes: Understanding the Words

I. Vocabulary Match

Name: _

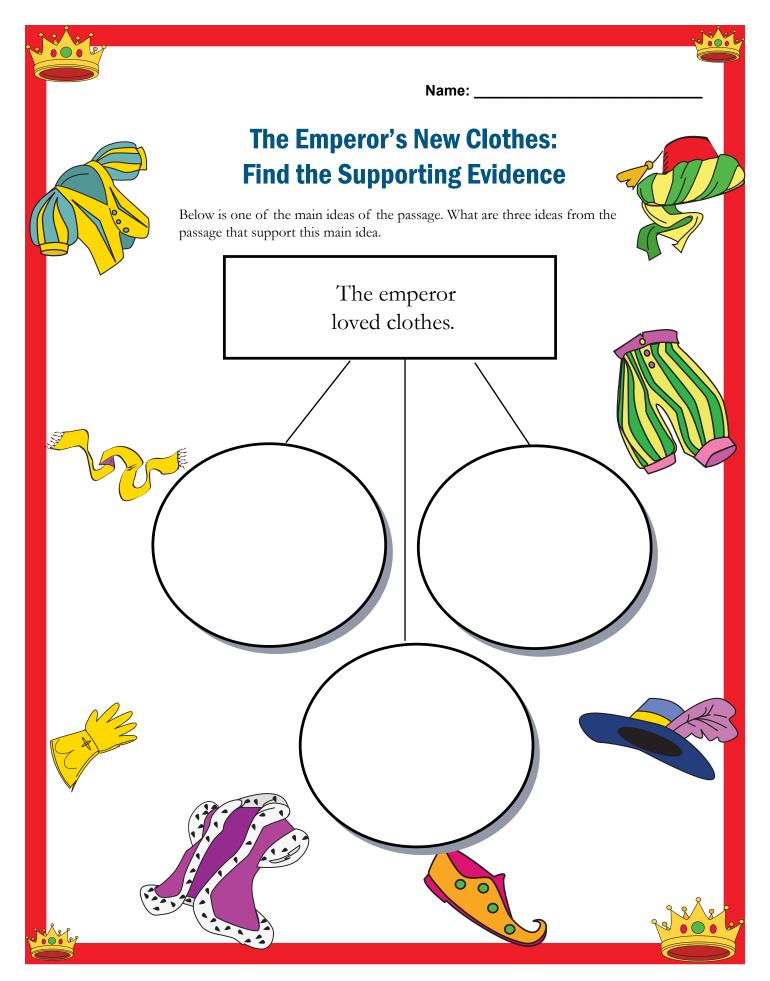

Match each word in Column A with its meaning in Column B

Column B

1	_ elaborate	A. bag for holding things; backpack
2	_wardrobe	B. a device for weaving cloth
3	_ knapsack	C. not worthy; below standard
4	rogue	D. cabinet or closet
5	_ excessively	E. happily; without problems
6	loom	F. complicated; having many parts
7	the chase	G. a hunt
8	_ unfit	H. dishonest person
9	_ merrily	I. wonderful; magnificent
10	_ splendid	J. large amount; more than normal
1. "the opportu A. paid for B.	nities then afforded him removed from C. gav	ne correct meaning of the underlined word. In for displaying his new clothes" In D. helped The is accustomed to say, "he is sitting in council"
A. in the habit	B. never C. hopeful	D. determined
	iul property of remaining
A. land B. mag	gic C. skill D. qua	ality
4. "in order that t	hey might begin their we	ork directly ."
A. carefully B.	right away; immediately	C. pleasantly D. slowly
5. " affected to	work very busily"
A pretended 1	3 hegan - Ciumped	D planned

Name:
-------	--

The Emperor's New Clothes: Today's Story

The emperor loved clothes too much. The dishonest weavers used the emperor's love of clothes as a way to cheat him. Think of an example in today's world where someone might love something so much that they could be cheated like the emperor. Who is this person? What do they love so much? How could someone cheat them because of this love of a thing?

Fun With Words: The Emperor's New Clothes Word Search

Circle each word from the list in the puzzle. The words can go in any direction.

CLOTHES DISHONEST EMPEROR GOLD INVISIBLE KNAPSACK LOOMS MONEY SILK UNFIT WARDROBE WEAVER

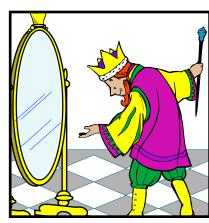

lame:

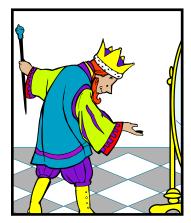

The Emperor's New Clothes

Hans Christen Andersen

Hans Christian Andersen was a famous Danish writer. He is known for writing fairy tales, such as "The Little Mermaid" and "The Snow Queen." His story "The Emperor's New Clothes" was first published in 1837. Below is the beginning of the story.

Many years ago, there was an Emperor, who was so excessively fond of new clothes, that he spent all his money in dress. He did not trouble himself in the least about his soldiers; nor did he care to go either to the theatre or the chase, except for the opportunities then afforded him for displaying his new clothes. He had a different suit for each hour of the day; and as of any other king or emperor, one is accustomed to say, "he is sitting in council," it was always said of him, "The Emperor is sitting in his wardrobe."

Time passed merrily in the large town which was his capital;

strangers arrived every day at the court. One day, two rogues, calling themselves weavers, made their appearance. They gave out that they knew how to weave stuffs of the most beautiful colors and elaborate patterns, the clothes manufactured from which should have the wonderful property of remaining invisible to everyone who was unfit for the office he held, or who was extraordinarily simple in character.

"These must, indeed, be splendid clothes!" thought the Emperor. "Had I such a suit, I might at once find out what men in my realms are unfit for their office, and also be able to distinguish the wise from the foolish! This stuff must be woven for me immediately." And he caused large sums of money to be given to both the weavers in order that they might begin their work directly.

So the two pretended weavers set up two looms, and affected to work very busily, though in reality they did nothing at all. They asked for the most delicate silk and the purest gold thread; put both into their own knapsacks; and then continued their pretended work at the empty looms until late at night.

200	1 les

The Emperor's New Clothes Do You Remember?

KEY
IXL I

Part I. Short Answer

Name:

Answer each question below.

- 1. What did the emperor spend all his money on? ______clothes or dress
- 2. Where did the emperor spend most of his time? in his wardrobe or closet
- 3. The dishonest weavers said their clothes were _____invisible to those who were unfit for their office.
- 4, How much cloth did the dishonest weavers make? _____
- 5. What did the dishonest weavers do with the silk and gold thread? put it in their knapsack

Part II. Multiple Choice

Circle the correct answer to each question.

- 1. How many suits did the emperor have?
- A. One for each day of the week
- B. Two for each day of the week
- C. One for each hour of the day
- D. One for every morning, afternoon and night.
- 2. Why did the emperor want to go to the theatre?
- A. It was his duty as emperor.
- B. He liked to watch the singers.
- C. There was nothing else to do.
- D. He could show off his clothes

- A. The cloth didn't cost very much.
- B. He would be able to tell who was foolish and who was wise.
- C. The cloth matched the color of his eyes
- D. The clothes were in the newest style.
- 4. Why did the dishonest weavers cheat the emperor?
- A. They thought it was funny.
- B. They wanted to be emperor.
- C. They wanted to start a war.
- D. They wanted money.

KEY

The Emperor's New Clothes: Understanding the Words

I. Vocabulary Match

Name:

Match each word in Column A with its meaning in Column B

Colu	mn A		Column B
1	F	elaborate	A. bag for holding things; backpack
2	D	wardrobe	B. a device for weaving cloth
3	Α	knapsack	C. not worthy; below standard
4	Н	rogue	D. cabinet or closet
5	J	excessively	E. happily; without problems
6	Α	loom	F. complicated; having many parts
7	G	the chase	G. a hunt
8	С	unfit	H. dishonest person
9	Е	merrily	I. wonderful; magnificent
10	1	splendid	J. large amount; more than normal

II. Meaning in the Text

Below are phrases from the text. Circle the correct meaning of the underlined word.

1. "...the opportunities then afforded him for displaying his new clothes"

A. paid for B. removed from C. gave D. helped

2. "...as of any other king or emperor, one is accustomed to say, "he is sitting in council"

A. in the habit B. never C. hopeful D. determined

3. "...the wonderful property of remaining invisible"

A. land B. magic C. skill D. quality

4. "in order that they might begin their work directly."

A. carefully B right away; immediately C. pleasantly D. slowly

5. "...affected to work very busily"

A. pretended B. began C. jumped D. planned

Name: KEY

The Emperor's New Clothes: Today's Story

The emperor loved clothes too much. The dishonest weavers used the emperor's love of clothes as a way to cheat him. Think of an example in today's world where someone might love something so much that they could be cheated like the emperor. Who is this person? What do they love so much? How could someone cheat them because of this love of a thing?

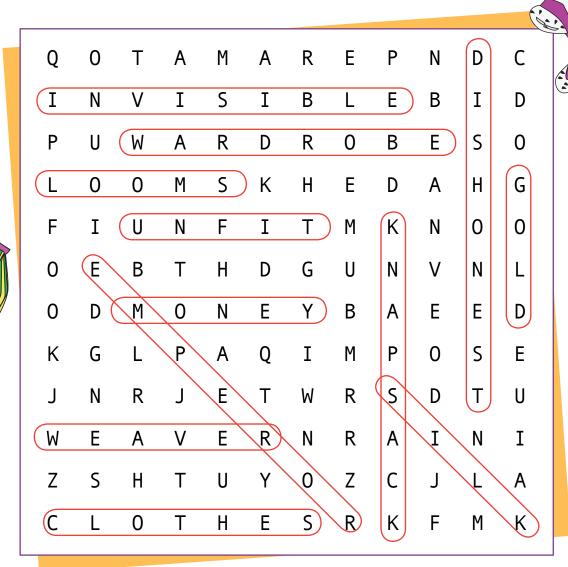

Fun With Words: The Emperor's New Clothes Word Search

Circle each word from the list in the puzzle. The words can go in any direction.

INVISIBLE KNAPSACK LOOMS MONEY SILK UNFIT WARDROBE WEAVER

