

Latin and Greek Suffixes: -Itious and -Ory

Many suffixes we use in English originally come from Greek or Latin word endings. The suffix -itious is from Latin meaning “having the nature of” or “characteristics of.” The suffix -ory is from Latin meaning “place for” or “having to do with.” Suffixes often change the meaning of the root word. For example, the root cursor means “runner.” Combine cursor with -ory, and it becomes the word cursorry. Based on its original meaning, cursorry means “having to do with a runner” or hasty or brief.

Use the list in the bank to make five different English words out of -itious and -ory. You may add a prefix or change the spelling a little if needed. Write a sentence for each word you make and circle the word you made with the suffix. Be sure to use words for both -itious and -ory.
